All about cooling, heating, water supply and sanitation

“Thermoydraulikos” (means “thermo-hydraulic installer” in Greek) is the reliable, objective magazine in Greece with information about cooling, heating, water supply and sanitation.

Apart from enriched technical articles and case studies contains news from the trade and professional plumbers unions, burner installers and maintainers, as well as news and innovations from the industry and the marketplace, providing to its readers a fulfilling review for new techniques, products and services.

Running its third decade of publication, it has been widely accepted by all professionals in the specific market as the most solid source of information about cooling, heating, water supply and sanitation in Greece and Cyprus.
